DESPERATE FIGHT AT ST. LOUIS.

An Eastern Man Pays $60,000 For a Dozen Trotters.

GENERAL SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

There is probably more interest being centered in the formation of the Allegheny County Buseball League than the majority of baseball enthusiasts have any idea. There are four clubs needed to make the league complete and there is a plethora of applicants. So enthusiastic are the applicants about being organized that there is considerable talk about organizing another league among the rejected clubs. There is also a desire to make the county league one of 12 clubs instead of 8 so that the applicants for membership will not be disappointed. Of course all this shows how popular the national game is in and about Pittsburg, although it may also show that a spirit of rivalry exists that may develop into unpleasant dimensions. An official of the county league made the fol-lowing statement regarding the matter last evening. He said: Our important meeting will be held Monday night and by all means we desire that the entire matter be placed clearly before the thousands of people interested. The action of the Allegheny County League in limiting the number of clubs to eight, to compose the above organization for the season '89 has been severely criticised on all sides and pressure has been brought to bear from various points to have the officials of the league call another meeting before February 18 and have the league re-consider its decision and fix the number of clubs at 10 or 12, instead of eight.

FOR A SPECIFIC PURPOSE.

The preliminary meeting on February 5 was called for the specific purpose of fix-ing the number of clubs to com-pose the league, as it was deemed to be a very important question. The matter was thoroughly discussed, and after due deliberation eight discussed, and after due deilberation eight clubs was decided on without one dissenting voice. The action of the league in this matter is absolute and final and cannot be revoked, and in view of the fact that this organization is only following in the footsteps of both the National League and American Association is fixing their membership at the same number of both these famous organizations it. number of both these famous organizations, it seems to me that everything points that their action was a wise one.

"The arranging of a schedule is always a bugbear, and anyone who has wrestled with that knotty problem and endeavored to arrange a series of games between ten clubs, will appreciate the action of the county league in restricting their membership to eight clubs. It is the desire of the league to have a series of four games between every club, and if the membership were increased to ten it would be impossible to do this, for the length of the season will not permit more than 25 games, as the games will only be scneduled on Saturdays. Then again the Allegheny County League is not a junior organization by any means, and does not intend to open wide its arms to every club who may offer themselves as members. It has a certain amount of dignity to uphold, and any club that is admitted at the meeting on Monday evening will have to present its standing, prospects, etc., in a manner that will leave no doubt in the minds of all those present that it will make a creditable member of the league.

"In regard to the formation of another county league by disappointed applicants, I would say let them form a similar organization; in this big city. A threat of this kind will not deter an association of such good standing as the county league from following out a course of action which they have determined on.

GOOD TEMPER DESIRED. action was a wise one.

"The arranging of a schedule is always a bug-

"However, we sincerely hope that the election will take place without treading on anybody's toes, and if certain clubs do get left we hope that they will accept the results with that amount of good grace expected from all gentlemen interested in baseball principally for the love of it. It is certain that all clubs applying for membership in the county league cannot be admitted, and depend upon it those giving the best security and prospects will be the ones admitted. Favoritism or anything like it will have nothing to do with the selections made. Business only will prompt the action of those who have the power to act."

Regarding the election of President the speaker was not inclined to say much. There is a strong desire to have Mr. McCarthy remain in office for another year. He may do so, but he is wishful to resign. The name of a prominent newspaper man and that of a young business man have been mentioned for the place, and if Mr. McCarthy resulty declines to be re-elected one of the gentlemen above referred plying for membership in the county leagu re-elected one of the gentlemen above referred to will be chosen. Altogether it is safe to say that the meeting will arrive at a harmonious conclusion.

The latest about the four clubs likely to be elected to make the league complete is to the effect that Emsworth, Sewickley and the Etna Stars are sure. The fourth choice rests between the W. J. Kuehnes and the Oaklands. There has been some doubt about the latter club securing grounds and this has given rise to a notion that the club will not apply for membership. Mr. Rinehart, secretary of the club, however, called at this office and made the following business like statement: "We can get grounds," he said, "If we are admitted to the league. We will certainly get as good grounds as any club applying that has not grounds already. We will also have a good team. We already have Neues and Revel, of last year's Iron Citys as our battery, and we also expect to have Newell, the local pitcher of some repute. We have grounds on which we can practice; the best grounds in the city, but we can get no security from the Scheenley estate that will insure us to put up a fence. If we inclose the grounds the estate can take all our buildings at the end of the year. We cannot get even a three year lease. We can get the use of other grounds, however, if we are admitted to the league." The latest about the four clubs likely to be

IT WASN'T A DRAW.

Two Western Fighters Have a Desperate Bare Fist Battle.

CHICAGO, February 15 .- James Fleming and John Morgan, two local pugilists, fought a bare knuckle battle this morning in a barn near this city. The purse was $1,000 in addition to a $250 gold watch. At the beginning of the fight Morgan had a little the best of it. In the eighth round Morgan got in several

In the eighth round Morgan got in several good blows, but in return received like punishment that made him weak, and he was fast losing when the round closed.

Two more rounds followed without either man doing much work. In the eleventh and last round, Morgan seemed determined to win or lose with a final effort. He attacked his opponent viciously, but ineffectually. His vicious lunges were met with well directed blows on the face and neck. As the round neared a close Fleming asw an opportunity to get in a knockout blow, and put it in very nicely, Morgan dropped senseless, and when the twelfth round was called he was unable to answer to it.

About J. I. Case. This is how J. L Case, of Racine, Wis., made a start as a horseman: He was in Oshkosh and there heard of the great speed of a horse owned by a certain minister of that place. The day was Sunday, but he enticed the minister to take him on a drive. He had some difficulty, however, in persuading him to let the irotter out, and only at last succeeded when they were on the home stretch. Imagine the horror of the parishoners of the cierical man when they saw him excitedly leaning forward, grasping the lines over a racing horse, and, moreover, a wicked man of the world by his side. This was Edwin D, which trotted low down in the twenties. Case bought the horse, and, as he thereby acquired the taste, kept on buying, until today 150 representatives of every fashionable strain known in trotting circles occupy the stables of Hickory Grove Farm. Included within this list are Jay Eye Sec, 2:10; Phallas, 2:13%; Brown, 2:18%, and many promising colts and brood mares, among which are Lillian, 2:23, and Huntress, 2:28%. owned by a certain minister of that place. The

A Question of Price.

Captain S. S. Brown, the horseman of this city, stated vesterday that George Hankins has made an offer for Reporter. The sum offered is not named, but it was not big enough. The Captain is quoted as saying that Reporter or any of his other horses, except Troubadour, will be sold if a big enough price is offered.

AFTER THE BATTLE. What the Chicago Authorities Think of the

Myer-McAuliffe Affair. CHICAGO, February 15.—"That fight was the stiffest thing I ever saw," Parson Davies said to-night. "I wouldn't walk across the street to look at such a set-to. They did nothing but dance and prance up to each other and away. There was too much money on it; that was the trouble. If it had been in a back room for a

There was too much money on it; that was the trouble. If it had been in a back room for a purse there wouldn't be any draw."

"I couldn't help calling it a draw," Mike McDonald said. "I had been up all night. I hadn't had anything to eat or drink. I was dead tired out, and I had a real estate transaction in Chicago to attend to. I thought some of taking them both into town and having them play it out in my office, but they wouldn't come. Everybody was satisfied at the draw, except the follows who paid nothing to get in and had no other place to go. It was a peculiar affair."

John Kline, at whose place in Beloit McAuliffe trained, denounced the affair as about the poorest he had ever seen.

"For two good men," he said, "to run away from each other for four hours does not answer my idea of a prize fight. I would'nt go to another such an exhibition for $1,000.

Mr. Black, Harry Gilmore's backer, came all the way from St. Paul to see the fight. He declared yesterday that he had seen better fights at a bean-bag game. He is going back to St. Paul.

"I blame Myer." Mr. Black said. "He led only four times during the whole fight. Just think of a man getting $1,00 for that!"

These were pretty near the sentiments of the town. The Board of Trade men, who paid the most of the gate money that came from Chicago—the professionals getting in through their acquaintance with "the man at the door"—were said. They shook their heads mountfully. There has not been so much sorrow on the foor since Mr. Hutchinson put on the gloves with the wheat market.

"I won't go to any more fights," one of the traders said. "They have got my last twenty. As soon as I recover from the attack of pneumonia that I got in the cold hall I'm going to join the church."

Madden and McAuliffe stayed in the Tremont House till noon, when they left for New York. monia that I got in the cold hall I'm going to join the church."

Madden and McAuliffe stayed in the Tremont House till noon, when they left for New York. The champion did not show the effects of the fearful fracas. The scratch on his lip looked as though it might have been made by the slip of a razor.

THE CHICAGO STABLE.

Interesting News About Galen, Terra Cotta

and Other Good Ones. Referring to some of the prominent race horses at Nashville a correspondent of the horses at Nashville a correspondent of the Horseman says:

Although the track is in fine working condition, none of the trainers have given their horses any fast work as yet, the exercise being confined to trotting and slow canters, and many of the youngsters have not been shod. Trainer Johnson, of the Chicago stable, is here with a big string, his family numbering now 25 in all. Of these I think Galen looks the best; he has a summer coat and appears almost fit to do a little aprinting now. I do not think he is any the worse of the touching he got for the splints, and he will be a hard horse to beat if he goes to the post in condition. Terra Côtta has yicked up wonderfully, and is laying on flesh every day. "I want him to have just one hundred pounds more on him when he starts," said Mr. Johnson to me, when I noticed how stout he looked. "He has run all his races when big." He has been clipped, which gives him a rather strange appearance. Speaking of Terra Cotta, I met Colonel J. W. Guest, the former owner of the horse, yesterday, and in the course of conversation asked him what he thought of the chestnut horse. "Well," said he, "I have nine now in training, and I will give them all for Terra Cotta, even trade. I think that much of him," Of course, I won't undertake to say how much of this "goes," for I think Mr. Guest rates his colt Heron pretty highly, but anyhow I know he considers Mr. Hankin's horse one of the best in the country. Little Minch, of the same stable, looks as well as I ever saw him, whether remaining at the post or breaking a recordiand Egmont as hearty as a prize fighter out of work. There are some well-bred looking 2 year-olds in the string, and if looks and blood will do anything they ought to be heard from.

THERE is a report current that a disagreement has occurred between President Byrne, of the Brooklyn club, and Manager Wallace, of Ridgewood Park, and that the Brooklyn club will not be able to play any Sunday games there during the coming season. It is also rumored that the Brooklyn club management is now looking for new grounds in the suburbs of Brooklyn on which to play its Sunday games. SPEAKING of the recent lightweight battle, John Congdon, a leading Chicago sporting man, says: "McAuliffe can whip Myer at any stage of the game if Myer will lead for him, but McAuliffe nor no other man can whip Myer at the jumping-jack game. Myer knew he could not best McAulife five minutes after they entered the ring, and then Myer proceeded to save his backers, which he did in great shape. He wanted to make a safe reputation with money men, and he has done so, but he can't whip McAuliffe all the same."

MAY GET SOME CASH.

The Assignees of the Farmers and Mechan ics' Bank Will Meet With a Committee of the Depositors To-Day. The assignees of the defunct Farmers and Mechanics' Bank will hold a meeting this morning in conjunction with a committee of the depositors, for the purpose of discussing the advisability of paying the depositors a part of their money.

There is about $50,000 cash in the bank and inasmuch as Mr. G. H. Meyer, President of the German American Insurance Company, yesterday bought the bank prop erty for nearly $35,000, the assignees have now about $90,000 on hand.

Mr. J. H. Sorg, President of the bank, in conversation with a DISPATCH reporter last night, said: I am anxious to show the depositors that we are more than willing to help them to get their money, and in spite of the talk which has been indulged in against us we really had not the power hor the means to do anything before power hor the means to do anything before now. But since the bank building, which was an elephant on our hands, has been disposed of, we have about enough ready cash to pay the people at least one-third of their deposits.

However, our attorney advises us not to pay out anything yet, because he says that the paying in installments incurs a great deal of extra and unnecessary outlay. But I dare say we shall be able to make an arrangement at the meeting to-morrow morning, which, I hope, will be satisfactory to all.

To show the depositors that we are open and honest with them, I am going to ask Mr. H. C. Gearing and four other gentlemen of the depositors' committee to be present.

RUDOLF WAS LOVED.

A Young Austrian Predicts Another Bulgarian Uprising. Mr. Ernst Jordan, of Bodenback, Austria was in the city yesterday at the Duquesne.

The young man is traveling in America. About his own country, he said: The death of Rudolf is wrapped in mystery, and just how he died will never be known. All the facts will be carefully guarded. The suc-cession has already been settled, and his sudden demise will not lead to any pofitical complica-tions. I often saw him, and he really was liked by the people. He had a very fine wife, but never cared very much for her. This produced his downfall, I think there will be another uprising in Bulgaria in a few weeks. Ferdinand is the present King of the people, and he expected consider-able support from the court of Austria, which able support from the court of Austria, which he never received. The people are chafing and restiess, and it won't be long before there is another outlook. This time Austria will not interfere. It was a mistake to remove Alexander, for he is a good man. Russia may take a hand in the fight, and the result will be that Bulgaria will be annexed to the Czar's kingdom. Austria doesn't care much for the territory, and Russia will some day quietly make the gobble.

Representative Stewart Criticises the Grade Crossing Bill.

Yesterday the Legislature adjourned until next Wednesday to give the members an opportunity to vote. Quite a number of the Western Pennsylvania Representatives returned last night. In the party were Henry Hall, of Mercer; Dr. Donaldson, of Washington; Dr. McCullough, Messrs. Lafferty, Stewart, Morland, Weaver, Senator Steele and Reading Clerk Baker. Commenting on the grade crossing bill. Mr. Stewart said I think the bill is defective in some respects. It provides that in cities where the roads are already built, the city shall bear one-half the expense in constructing the elevated tracks. If a new road is laid the company will have to pay the cost alone. If the bill is passed, many of the cities will not be inclined to stand the enormous outlay, and the result will be that the good effects of the bill will be lost. I think this would be true of Pittsburg and Allegheny if it became a law.

If it became a law.

I would also like to see boroughs and towns included in the measure. I know lots of dangerous crossings in the country that ought to be protected. A bridge over the track would answer the purpose, and it could be done for a small outlay of money.
